

The Alliance of
Los Angeles Playwrights

The Alliance of Los Angeles Playwrights (ALAP) is a support and service organization dedicated to protecting the rights and addressing the professional needs of the Los Angeles playwriting community. Founded in 1993, ALAP now counts members in a number of states, from students and beginning writers to established professionals. ALAP is all-volunteer, and is a nonprofit 501c3 entity.

Among the events and programs ALAP sponsors are ALAP @ The Fringe, several short plays chosen by a panel of judges and produced at the Hollywood Fringe Festival; the Pride Play Reading Festival, supported by the City of West Hollywood as part of Gay Pride Month festivities; a major annual daylong event – Dramapalooza, Dramageddon, and Dramamonoopia have been some of the tongue-in-cheek titles – which may include programs such as the Producer/Director/Dramatist Exchange, Monologue and Scene Slams, the Playwright's Playpen, and varied workshops and professional panels; the In Our Own Voices series, in which member playwrights read from and share their work with other writers and theatre professionals; symposiums and panel discussions; and networking and social events such as the Annual Meeting and 12th Nite Party, the Spring Cocktail Party, and the Summer Picnic.

ALAP also hosts an almost-monthly gathering we call the ALAP Salo(o)n, generally held in a member's home, which combines a brief business meeting with an hour or so of informal socializing over snacks and champagne.

The New Works Lab, in which a local theatre company (we have worked with some of the best groups in the area) does a non-public table reading (and occasionally a public one) and moderated discussion of a script, helps members develop their plays in a safe environment, while at the same time introducing them to groups with an interest in new writing.

ALAP's website includes Meet Our Members, where members post their credits and a photo; a Script Catalogue, where members list their plays available for production to theatres and producers around the world; Sample Contracts which can serve as templates for production contracts and agreements for readings; the ALAP Store, offering DVDs of dozens of craft and business discussions over the years; and links to the current NewsFlash and a listing of upcoming events.

The Members Only area of the site includes the Members-Only Email List, which alerts members to discounted or free tickets, as well as submission opportunities from theatres and festivals; the ALAP Resource Guide to LA Theatre, which lists more than 300 SoCal theatres, producers, and playwrights' groups; and Actor, Director, and Support Worker Databases, in which actors, directors, and others interested in working on new plays register their resumes.

Dues of $45 ($20 for full-time students with valid ID), or $300 for Lifetime Membership, are tax-deductible. For more information, email info@laplaywrights.org, or contact Chair Jonathan Dorf (jond@laplaywrights.org).

The Alliance of
Los Angeles Playwrights

7111 Santa Monica Blvd Suite B-159<>West Hollywood, CA 90046<>323-696-ALAP (2527)
www.LAPlaywrights.org<>info@LAPlaywrights.org

ALAP MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

You may also download an application at the website

(Please print or type all information)

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____

PHONE - HOME _____ WORK _____ CELL _____

EMAIL ADDRESS _____

ARE YOU A PRODUCED PLAYWRIGHT? _____

ARE YOU A PUBLISHED PLAYWRIGHT? _____

WHAT EVENTS/ACTIVITIES WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE ALAP DO? _____

WOULD YOU BE WILLING TO HELP WITH ALAP EVENTS? YES ___ NO ___

Below are some of the events and programs which ALAP offers, and for which we always need volunteers. If you'd like to help, please plan to attend one of the monthly Planning Meetings – we call them Salo(o)ns, and we announce them via email – and we'll be happy to put you to work!

Annual Play Reading Festival
In Our Own Voices Member Readings
New Works Lab
Social Events
Mailing Meetings
Publicity

Bimonthly Newsletter
Website Updates and Maintenance
Email Listserves
Professional Symposia
Playwrights Expo

Please return this form, along with your check for $45.00 (students $20.00, please enclose copy of current ID) or $300.00 for Lifetime Membership, payable to "Alliance of Los Angeles Playwrights" to ALAP, 7111 Santa Monica Blvd Suite B-159, West Hollywood, CA 90046.

ALAP Dues are tax-deductible.